

ASAP

AREA SECTOR ANALYSIS PROCESS

Helping communities identify targeted, sustainable economic development.

University of Idaho

Kane County, UT is taking part in the Area Sector Analysis Process (ASAP), a community-driven tool that informs sustainable community economic development decisions. ASAP uses national and local data to identify compatible and desirable business sectors unique to each community (<https://wrdc.usu.edu/programs/asap>).

This is an invitation to participate in the Community Goal Survey, an important ASAP component which seeks to understand the goals and priorities of Kane County, UT related to community economic development. Your unique feedback will ensure a broad range of perspectives are represented.

Access the survey: <https://tinyurl.com/ASAPKaneUT>
Password: 2019KU1005

ASAP is a cooperative project between Kane County, UT, University of Idaho, University of Nevada, Reno, and University of Utah. University research adheres to strict federal privacy standards that require your survey responses to be anonymous and confidential.

Project contacts are listed below, don't hesitate to reach out with questions.

Project	Don Albrecht, PhD	Malieka Bordigioni, MS
Contacts:	(435) 797-2798 don.albrecht@usu.edu	(775) 784-1913 maliekal@unr.edu